Flowmon

The Flowmon solution by Kemp creates a secure and transparent digital environment where people rule the network regardless of its complexity and nature. Using machine learning, heuristics and advanced analytics, it enables IT professionals to improve performance and reduce risk across on-premise, datacenter and cloud environments.

The solution serves as a shared platform where network and security teams speak the same language, enabling them to work as one for faster mean-time-to-resolve and optimal resource allocation. By delivering highly streamlined deployment to any network type, market-leading support and in-product guidance, the solution provides the fastest time-to-value in the industry.
